STRICT AUTOMOBILE LAW

A rather strict automobile law will go into effect in Missouri November 1. The law will prevent anyone under 18 years of age driving an automobile. To secure a license to drive, and boy and girl must not only pay the required fee of $3, but the applicant must secure the endorsement of two automobile owners as to his ability to operate a car and his good standing in the community. Children are prohibited absolutely from driving, even when accompanied by parents or the owner of the car. A violation of this law makes the owner of the car responsible and takes from him his car license.

COURT BOUGHT HORSESHOES

Recently there was presented to the county court in Randolph county a bill for $24 for horseshoes. The horseshoes were furnished the county officers, who played with them during the dull season, and when the bill was presented to the court it ruled that it was the business of the people to furnish the county officers with amusement when not employed, so paid it. Here in Howard county, the court would probably tell the officers to mow the lawn whenever they needed exercise and amusement.—Fayette Advertiser.

POOR ECONOMY

A woman who was too economical to subscribe for her home paper sent her little son to borrow the copy taken by their neighbor. In his haste the boy ran over a $4 stand of bees and in ten minutes looked like a warty summer squash. His cries reached his father, who ran to his assistance, and failing to notice a barbed wire fence ran into it, breaking it down, cutting a handful of flesh from his anatomy and ruining a $5 pair of pants. The old cow took advantage of the gap in the fence and killed herself eating corn. Hearing the racket, the mother ran, upsetting a 4-gallon churn of rich milk into a basket of kittens, drowning the whole litter. In her haste she dropped and broke, past all hope of mending, a $25 set of false teeth. The baby, left alone, crawled through the spilled milk and into the parlor, ruining a $20 carpet. During the excitement, the eldest daughter ran away with the hired man, the dog broke up eleven setting hens, and the calves got out and chewed the tails off of four fine shirts. All to save the subscription price.

ATTENDED FUNERAL OF MRS. T. J. MARTIN

The following from out of town attended the funeral of their mother, Mrs. T. J. Martin last Thursday: T. P. Elliott, a brother of St. Louis; Mrs. J. R. Daniels, a sister of Gilliam, Mrs. Dean Chapman, a sister of Columbia, Miss Lou Martin a sister-in-law of Mr. Martin of St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Ryan of Kansas City.

STILL WORKS BOTH WAYS

An exchange says that if a man went out with his head doped up in three cornered dingus kinks and cliques and a cats tail and a chicken head pinned on one side and a young onion on the other, and two strips of red flannel hanging down the rear, he would be arrested and slammed in a booby hatch. But a woman can do it and get away with it. Why?

To which another exchange replies thusly: Well, we don't know. If a woman went out with a big wad of tobacco in her mouth and stood around on the corner and told stories and squirted juice all over everything and swore every other breath, used foul language and swaggered around, she would soon be arrested. But a man can do it and get away with it. Why?

POSTMASTERS MUST HELP TOURISTS

Postmasters throughout the country will have to post themselves on the best trout streams in their vicinity, the location of the golf clubs and other information of interest to tourists, according to a recent order by Postmaster General Hays. So successful has the information bureau of the department here proved that Postmaster General Hays contemplates extending the service. Either the local postmaster or some delegated employee would help tourists, according to the order.

Miss Viretta Northcutt and Mrs. Grace McCarty of Flora, Ind., returned home Thursday after a pleasant visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Northcutt. They are mother and sister of Doc Northcutt. Mr. and Mrs. Northcutt took them to Moberly in the car to get No. 28 to return to Indiana.

SEE WRIGHT & BREWER

For cheap farm loans, and the least incidental expense. Call us or write us, and we will come to see you. We want your business. Office at bank of Keytesville. 324

WORTH DOLLARS TO YOU

If you need to get a loan on your farm we are prepared to save you at least one-half of one per cent interest per year.

Is this saving not worth while? If we fail to convince you that we can do this then we will pay you for your time and expense in coming to see us about it.

It is absolutely true, and the records will show that farmers are, in many instances, paying more for the money they borrow than they need to pay. It is astonishing that they will do this, but it is a fact.

TEACHERS MUST HAVE HEALTH CERTIFICATES

One of the new and vital laws, passed by the recent legislature is that requiring that all teachers in Missouri schools pass a physical examination before some physician. State Superintendent Baker has issued a letter to the county superintendents calling their attention to the law, and directing them to see that it is complied with.

WANTS MARRIED WOMEN TO KEEP MAIDEN NAMES

Peace will not be established in the American household until all 37 points in the proposed twentieth amendment to the constitution, giving women all the legal rights now held by mere man, are on the statute books, says Mrs. Florence Hilles, new chairman of the women's party. Mrs. Hilles, successor to Miss Alice Paul, says that a nation-wide campaign is under way to force congress to take cognizance of the proposed amendment when it reconvenes next month. The high spots in the list of 37 points follow:

- Right of women to keep their maiden names after marriage.
- Right to choose their place of residence even if married.
- The liability of husbands for antenuptial debts of the wife.
- Equal liability of husband and wife for the support of the other.
- Right to hold public office.
- Right to control their own property.
- Right to serve on juries.
- Right to administer estates, make contracts and sue and be sued.

CHAPLIN TO BE KNIGHTED

Los Angeles—When he returns from England this autumn it will be as Sir Charles Chaplin. Take it for what it is worth, but that is a story current among the friends of the world's greatest screen clown here.

As the tale runs, Charlie's departure for England was not the overnight impulse he proclaimed, but was due to a tip from the other side that if he would pay a visit to his boy-hood home, knighthood would probably be in store for him. It is desired that Britons have a chance to acclaim him as one of their nationals (which he still is), and create the background for official honors.

England thus has recognized the histrionic art in such eminent personages as Forbes-Robertson, Irving, Hare, Trec and Alexander, and there is even better analogy to the present case in Sir Harry Lauder, who is a comedian.
